

DIFFERENT AGENCIES SAME PROFILING

Racial and ethnic profiling is common in the US, affecting all communities of color. Different federal agencies profile different ethnic groups:

- Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) preys on Latinos and other undocumented Americans in the war on immigrants.
- The FBI targets Arabs, South Asians, and Muslims of all ethnicities in the so-called “war on terror.”
- The FBI and the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) harass African Americans, Latinos and Southeast Asians in the war on drugs.

All of these agencies increasingly rely on local police departments to carry out their work, which means that the federal government may encourage your police department to ethnically profile members of your community. But when these vulnerable groups join together around shared goals and organize with their allies, we can build power at the local level to restore civil rights and liberties.
